

LSA (Lifestyle Spending Account)

What if you could help employers support the needs and interests of a diverse workforce? Lifestyle Spending Accounts (LSAs) are post-tax, employer-funded accounts that give employees access to products, services, and activities that can improve their overall sense of well-being.

Unlimited Flexibility

Expenses eligible for LSA reimbursement are chosen by the employer and can be nearly unlimited in scope.

Many employers choose expenses within the categories of physical fitness, mental health, or financial literacy. Others select education and enrichment activities. Still others prefer sports participation fees, cultural activities, or costs associated with leisure travel.

No other type of benefits account provides so much flexibility to help support employee needs and interests.

Add to Existing Benefits

Their post-tax status and lack of regulatory restrictions allow LSAs to be offered alongside other benefit accounts without interference.

Enrollment at Any Time

LSAs can be started at any time during the calendar year. They do not have to align with traditional annual enrollment dates.

Debit Card or Manual Claims

Depending on employer requirements, LSA accounts can be accompanied by a convenient, account-linked debit card.

Alternatively, employees can be required to incur the expense first and then submit claim documentation before receiving reimbursement.

Full-Featured Mobile App

Using the DataPath mobile app, employees can check their LSA account balance, view claims status, file claims, and upload receipts with their mobile devices.

Tax Considerations

LSAs are completely funded by the employer, and LSA benefits represent taxable income for employees. Consult your qualified tax or benefits counsel.

Affordable BPO Services

From plan setup through claims adjudication and reporting, DataPath Operations BPO can help you add LSAs to your services menu with no further burdens on your existing staff.
